Tyler Gavlak Honored by People to People

Eighth grade student and basketball team member Tyler Gavlak has been chosen to represent the United States as a People to People Sport Ambassador. In summer 2008, Tyler will train for 10 days in Holland, as part of the Youth Friendship Games. As part of the program Tyler will explore Holland with teammates from throughout the United States. In addition to building athletic skills, Gavlak can earn academic credit while getting to know the people, culture and history of the places visited. Tyler will take part in a variety of activities such as exploring Amsterdam's 500 miles of canals and bike riding down some of Holland's 10,000 miles of cycling trails.

Acceptance into the Sports Ambassador Program is an honor. After being invited to apply, Tyler submitted references and participated in a successful interview with program coaches and leaders. The international competition and education program was founded by President Dwight D. Eisenhower in 1956. Eisenhower, having served as a military commander, believed that ordinary citizens of different nations could make a difference where governments could not. Lone Rock's Tyler Gavlak is an international goodwill ambassador who will make Montana proud. Congratulations to Tyler and to People to People for their excellent choice.
